At AGL Flight Training, training is pay-as-you-go with no contracts or long-term commitments.

Students providing their own aircraft may subtract aircraft rental costs from the course estimate.

College students receive a 10% discount on the instructor rate with proof of current enrollment.

Estimated costs are based on FAA minimums. Completion at the minimums is possible but uncommon. Most students nationally finish between 50 and 65 flight hours, depending on individual progress and training consistency.
